THE VOICE OF FOGGY BOTTOM

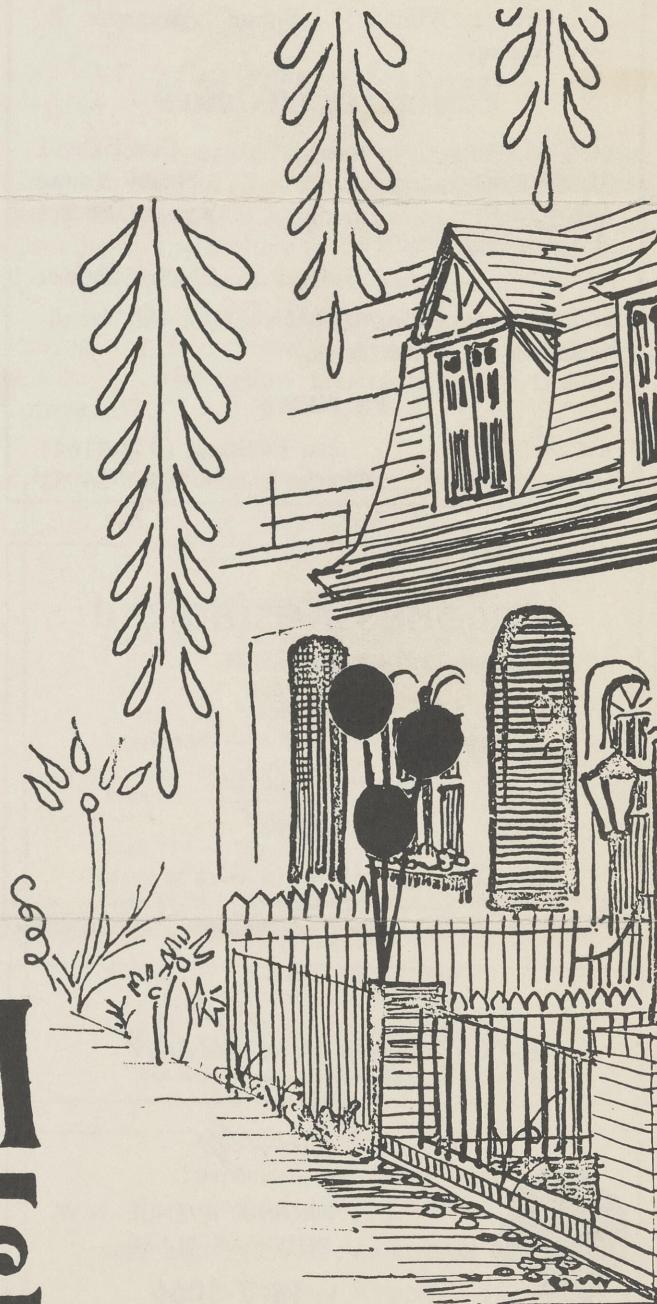

May 1968

NOW SET FOR EARLY JUNE

Once again this year, bright balloons tied to fences and porches will mark the houses open to the Foggy Bottom House and Garden Tour. The tentative date is June 9, or June 16 if it rains.

Anyone who wishes his house to be included on the Tour should contact Ellie Becker, 337-5528. Also needed are "house sitters" to help guide visitors through the premises.

Addresses of the tour homes, ticket prices, and places where tickets can be bought will be announced by flyers soon. Watch for them on your local tree!

LEGAL NOTICE: VOTE AT THE JUNE MEETING

The by-laws require the FBA to give its members plenty of notice when it's time to elect new officers, so this is it: the election meeting is Monday, June 24 at 8 p.m. in Pillsbury Hall.

As this issue went to press, the Nominating Committee, chaired by Father F. Everett Abbott, had almost completed its selection of candidates; the entire slate will be announced well before the election.

VOLUNTEERS NEEDED TO HELP POOR PEOPLE'S MARCH

Anyone in Foggy Bottom wishing to help support the Poor People's Campaign can do so directly through our community; just call Father Richard Martin of St. Paul's, 337-2020.

Located on the edge of the Campaign's camping area, Foggy Bottom is well situated to lend help. Volunteers may work either directly with the Campaigners, or with our churches and other groups that support the effort. Contributions of money will also be welcome.

Father Martin is coordinating a Foggy Bottom Support Group that meets weekly (or so) to determine what needs to be done and assign duties to volunteers. Area churches are focal points for Campaign support, and parishioner response has been encouraging, he reports.

OPEN-AIR CONCERT IN FOGGY BOTTOM:

D.C. YOUTH ORCHESTRA SYMPHONY TO PLAY

One of the finest musical groups of its kind in the Nation, the D.C. Youth Orchestra, will play an open-air concert in Foggy Bottom at 2 p.m., Sunday, May 26.

The lovely new 26th St. park (between I & K Sts.) will be the concert hall; that block of 26th St. will be closed to traffic between noon and 6 pm. Admission is $1.50 if you want to be sure of a seat, $1.00 general admission (unreserved seats while they last).

What is the Youth Orchestra? If you are a child of the city, it is the chance to learn to play an instrument, even if your family doesn't have the money for lessons. Hundreds of children from many cultural, racial and economic backgrounds have been trained in the Youth Orchestra Program, learning teamwork, tolerance and cooperation as well as music.

If you are one of the Orchestra's 22 teachers, it is the place where you spend every Saturday morning of the year. Half the 22 are paid on a make-do basis by the District public school system, which has no budget item for this activity. The other teachers are paid by the Friends of the D.C.

Youth Symphony Orchestra, a parents' auxiliary group. All the teachers are trained musicians, and they could make a lot more money elsewhere on Saturday mornings if they wanted to.

Finally, if you are an average citizen of the District, the Youth Orchestra is a chance to hear fine music, finely played by dedicated youngsters. Performers at the 26th St. park concert will be the Orchestra's elite Symphony, some 90-odd strong. Mr. Lyn G. McLain, the Orchestra Program's director, will direct the Symphony; they will perform:

"Pique Dame" ..... Von Suppa
 Valse Suite from the Sleeping Beauty Ballet . . . Tchaikowsky
 "Pavanne pour une infante defunte". . . . . Ravel
 Suite for Orchestra . . . . . Grieg
 First Movement,
 Second Symphony . . . . . Schumann

Everyone is urged to attend the concert on (once again) Sunday, May 26. Soft drinks will be sold. If rain intervenes, the concert will be held on the following Sunday, June 2.
